

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention relates to a method for fabricating an image sensor including a device isolation layer having a trench structure. Particularly, an implantation process is performed twice to form two channel stop ion implantation regions in the course of forming the device isolation layer so that a cross-talk phenomenon between neighboring unit pixels is reduced and a leakage current is improved.